In a world of established order and stability, people no longer create families, get divorced or fight. There is no more searching for creativity and as a result a disappointment. Each character is being created perfect, knowing its purpose and endowed with the necessary skills. Each failure is a subject to correction or a recycle. Once upon a time this procedure interrupts with ... aliens? future people? Nature itself? Any system strives for a balance, entropy, so restriction of the freedom of will one day should be violated.
